CALL FOR PAPERS

The Sixth International Workshop on Computer Modeling and Intelligent Systems CMIS-2023

3 of May 2023, Zaporizhzhia, Ukraine

Paper Selection Policy

For CMIS we accept only regular papers having at least 10 standard pages and an appropriate number of references.

We do not accept pre-published papers (presented at or published at or submitted to any other workshop/conference/journal/book).

The papers should not contain misconduct (including plagiarism, self-plagiarism, fabrication, falsification i.e.)

The authors in the paper should give meaningful affiliations, which typically include the author's organization and country (use the United Nations standard reference for the region).

The authors should provide their ORCIDs.

We accept only papers that fulfill the CMIS topics in the area of Computer Science, Information Systems, and Information Technology.

The paper's scientific novelty (impact to the theory of Computer Science) should be significant. We may reject papers without new significant results for Computer Science.

Submission of papers to the CMIS is open to all authors from all over the world regardless of their age, sex, nationality, religion, project membership.

Each paper submitted to CMIS will be checked for plagiarism, and peer reviewed by at least two reviewers with Ph.D / Dr. Sc. in Computer Science and one PC member. Then the final decision will be made by the CMIS PC Chair.

Ethical Issues

We recommend authors, reviewers, and editors to follow the Elsevier Publishing Ethics: <https://www.elsevier.com/about/policies/publishing-ethics> and COPE statements <https://publicationethics.org/cope-position-statements>

The papers and volumes published on CEUR-WS.org are freely accessible for academic and private use. We strongly discourage re-publication of papers that are already published at CMIS. Making a copy of the paper available on the author's home page or on the institutional repository is not regarded as a re-publication. In such cases, authors should include a reference/URL to the original publication. We advise authors to be careful about publishing versions of their paper that deviate from the originally published version because it could diminish the authenticity of the paper.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Is paper publishing a free of charge?

Yes.

Is participation a free of charge?

Yes.

Do you have limitation on number of authors?

We recommend that each paper should contain not more than 4 authors. At least one of them should be a specialist in Computer Science having DBLP profile with at least 4 papers.

How much own papers of authors allowed to be cited in the references?

We recommend to provide not more than 20-25% of references in the paper as references to own works of authors.

What number of references is recommended?

It should be not less than 10, but we recommend to provide 15-20 references (generally to scientific sources).

Are references on Cyrillic sources acceptable?

Generally we recommend to provide references only on English sources published in international publishing houses / journals / conferences with DOI or indexed in Scopus / WoS.

What percent of plagiarism is allowed?

We do not allow plagiarism and self-plagiarism. If you use previously published materials you should provide correct references. The percentage of text borrowings (with references) should not exceed 10% of the paper text.
